

ISAIAH BROKEN PAST, BRIGHT FUTURE

ISAIAH INTRODUCTION

Despite the brokenness we see around us, one day God will restore all things. We want to offer this hope to others as we have conversations about Jesus.

As we study Isaiah, together, our hope is that every person at Northwest will dive deeper through the Discover Together “Isaiah” Bible Study by Sue Edwards. We encourage all groups to do the study, and all members to go through the study questions on their own ahead of your gathering.

To help with discussion time, we have provided this schedule with questions we think highlight the heart of the study. Even if someone hasn’t done the study ahead of time, these questions should allow them to easily jump in.

May we grow in our desperate dependence on Jesus as we study His Word together!

Week 10

WAIT WELL FOR YOUR KING AND HIS KINGDOM

We live in the “already and the not yet”—Jesus came to earth, died for our sins, rose, and ascended into heaven. He changed the world. But we wait for Jesus’ second coming when he will make all things new. As we wait for him, we look towards the new heaven and the earth to inform how we live now, with hope.
